OVER 100 YEARS OF CUTTING EXCELLENCE, WILKINSON SWORD THROUGH THE AGES

Wilkinson Sword was founded by Henry Nock in 1772 in London. As its name suggests, Henry initially created the company to manufacture swords, as well as guns, at a time when there was a great demand - the American Revolutionary War began three years after he started the company and the Napoleonic Wars followed in 1803. However, over time the company began to diversify and develop its product lines, going on to manufacture a wide range of items such as bayonets, typewriters, garden shears, scissors and even motorcycles!

LEGACY

Going forward Wilkinson Sword continued to push the boundaries and develop new technologies, and in 1962 it introduced the first stainless steel razor blade. This revolutionised the market as it meant users only required one blade per week rather than one a day, and very soon Wilkinson Sword became a leader in the sector and continues to be so.

Traditionally a British manufacturer with three facilities throughout England and Wales, Wilkinson Sword's production was consolidated in 2000. Since its inception it has also been owned by several different companies before becoming the business it is now. However, the same quality of material, engineering and forward thinking development are still employed today, especially in the Garden Tools sector.

A GARDENING HOUSEHOLD NAME

Wilkinson Sword is currently owned by Energizer Holdings. The unique and innovative gardening tools collection is developed, imported and distributed by E. P. Barrus Ltd; a British Company with over 100 years trading experience. Barrus has a strong sales, distribution and engineering focus and is the power behind leading brands in the garden machinery and tools sector, marine, vehicle and industrial engine markets.

Our mission is to provide cutting-edge gardening tools of premium quality and performance that help make gardening easier and more enjoyable!
